

BAD OMEN

GAME JAM EUROPE 2026 · STARRING KÖMÜR THE BLACK CAT

Who’s the real bad omen?

A superstitious witch-grandma is sure the black cat in her cottage is bad luck. In BAD OMEN she is right about the disasters and wrong about the culprit: Kömür never brings her house down. Every big disaster is thrown by her own hand.

The blame 1

A black cat strolls into her house, and Grandma already knows whose fault the next disaster will be. Every broken plate: “That cat!”

The bait 2

Kömür is just a cat. He can’t snap a rope or bring down a roof. He knocks the china about, meows, taunts and dodges, and waits for her temper to go.

The backfire 3

Her own pans, axes and pitchforks snap the chandelier rope, light the stove, crack the floor, shatter the glass roof and knock out the last roof brace.

The rules tell the joke: the house’s weak points break only under Grandma’s throws, and every disaster she causes scores GRANNY DID IT ×2. The more she believes he is bad luck, the worse her own luck gets.

HOW KÖMÜR IS IN THE GAME

He looks like Kömür

○ black coat, ● white paws, chest and tail tip, ● amber eyes: the base cat recoloured into the jam’s mascot, with 38 new animations.

He plays like a cat

You are Kömür: walk, gallop, drift round corners, leap onto tables and mantels, pounce, swipe, meow, hide, sneak and scratch.

He talks like one

A dry inner monologue in 49 voiced lines, against an increasingly unhinged Grandma (28 lines), all subtitled.

He lives like one

Leave him alone and he licks his paw, sits, settles into a loaf, or nudges something off the furniture.

HOW IT PLAYS · TEAM FRACTURED SANITY

Don’t break the house. Make her break it.

Third person, in the browser: one cat, a two-storey wooden cottage, a glass-roofed conservatory and a walled garden, with about 375 breakable things that stay broken.

Make mischief

Swipe the good china off the sideboard, shred the curtains, set off chain reactions. Every crash raises her rage.

Bait her

Taunt her with a meow, then wait beside a glowing weak spot: a chandelier rope, the stove, the roof brace.

Dodge the throw

Every throw is telegraphed by a glowing arc. Jump clear at the last moment and her throw hits the weak spot instead.

The house pays

A cinematic cutaway, GRANNY DID IT ×2, and a house that stays wrecked. Her rage climbs, her throws get heavier.

FIVE DISASTERS, TWO ENDINGS

The Last Supper · The Kitchen Curse · The Bedroom Below · The Glass House · The Final Straw, plus four bonus disasters

Bring the roof down: the sun comes up over what’s left of her house.

Get greedy and she catches him: into the cauldron (“Needs salt.”).

WHAT’S IN IT

- Physics destruction with persistent debris and chain-reaction combos up to ×5
- Grandma: sight and hearing, chases, telegraphed throws, rage phases up to MELTDOWN
- 77 voiced, subtitled lines · 16 achievements
- Music that follows the chase: a creepy waltz, chase music, a meltdown, every change on the beat
- Keyboard and mouse, or touch controls on a phone in landscape

BUILT WITH

three.js (WebGL2) · Rapier physics (WASM) · a headless Blender pipeline for the mascot’s recolour and procedural cat animations · voices and effects generated with ElevenLabs at build time

CONTROLS

WASD · mouse	move · look
Shift / Space	gallop / leap
Click / Right-click	swipe / pounce
F / E / C	meow · hide (hold: scratch) · sneak

Plays in the browser: on a desktop with keyboard and mouse, or on a phone or tablet in landscape.

Kömür’s base model: “Somali Cat Animated ver 1.2” by DreamNoms (CC BY 4.0), recoloured and re-animated · Grandma: “Goblin D Shareyko” with Adobe Mixamo animations · wood textures: Poly Haven (CC0) · fonts: Creepster, IM FELL English (SIL OFL) · music: “Halloween Suspense Horror Halloween Waltz” by Bombinsound (Pixabay); chase and meltdown music, voices and effects: ElevenLabs